Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that if may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May, 1819.

COMMUNICATION.

Hard times, Mr. Printer, very hard times, indeed! no money, notes protested, bills unpaid, duns prowling, marshals seizing.—Now although I am not a doctor to cure old sores, I profess myself a doctor to prevent new complaints.—"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is a wise adage. My remedy is to prevent future evils; it is short, simple, may be committed to memory, should be taught, my good neighbours, to your children.—Practice it yourselves, my word for it, it will keep the duns from the door, it is comprised in six words, and ought, Mr. Printer, to be printed in italics.—Never buy any thing upon credit.

PROBATUM EST.

From the Baltimore Morning Chronicle.

TRADE—GENERAL DERANGEMENTS.

All accounts received for some months past, as well written as verbal, concur in representing trade and manufactures, not not only in the Atlantic towns, but throughout many parts of Europe, to be in a very depressed and deranged condition. Since the world is at peace, the mass of population are employed in peaceable pursuits; but their labors are subject to many disappointments, from the competition every where prevailing. The consequence is, that multitudes are kept in poverty, while many others are reduced to ruin. The truth is, too many are induced to seek a livelihood in cities, and are led away by illusive dreams of wealth to be acquired in this or that kind of traffic, flattering themselves with the phantom which dances before their imagination, that they will be able to assume the habits and manners of a life of gaiety, and live in comparative idleness.—The present state of things proves all this to be as erroneous in its conception as it is ruinous in its consequences.—Those eternal decrees, to which every son of Adam is subject, and which can never be eluded, point to a different course.—The original destination of man as declared by his Creator, was, that he should till the ground; and that universal governing principle, which is familiar to our senses, is the unerring evidence of its truth. And whatever may be their pride or their wishes, however they may court sloth or distinction, to this first and most useful employment men must return. The wisdom and beneficence which assigned us this duty, are manifest in the health and enjoyments which follow in its train.

We apprehended that in no other nation has the thirst for the acquisition of riches without labor, taken such deep root, as among ourselves. The natural effects of this policy are now unfolding themselves! and they are seen in the prostration and ruin of thousands, and in the universal derangement which is extended the whole length of our sea-board. If common report speaks truth, multitudes are preparing to woo the fertile regions of the west, and to be satisfied with a competency acquired by simple means, since they could not obtain affluence by those that are complicated and precarious.—Their brethren of the west will greet them with a hearty welcome. Here is room enough, and here they can become useful to the community, and with moderate labor can rear up their families in honorable independence and comfort. Our soil and climate, and the unrivalled beauty of our domain, invite the industrious adventurer from every quarter, and hold out reasonable inducements to those whom "better days saw better clad."

Our attention was forcibly arrested by an article transcribed into our last week's paper from the Aurora. It would seem that something like a scene of general ruin was spreading itself over Pennsylvania; and the fact is there admitted, that it has been brought about by a wish which has predominated with almost unlimited sway, that of becoming rich without industry; in other words, by the unwise multiplication of banking institutions. It is stated that the banking mania, had turned 50,000 families out of house and home. If this declaration is taken in half its latitude, it is sufficient to overwhelm the mind with dismay and terror; and may be considered a much greater affliction than ever a righteous Providence brought upon them under any circumstances. We hope people will at least learn wisdom by sore experience; and be finally convinced that industry is the legitimate parent of wealth; and that honesty is always the best policy.

INQUISITOR.

The following editorial remarks from the Philadelphia Union, contains the principles eternal truth and justice; they are applicable to all times and to all circumstances, and when these fail, the

"Pillard earth is rottenness."

[Baltimore Morning Chronicle.

BANKS VS. SPECULATION.

We copied, day before yesterday, an article from a North Carolina paper, in which it is alleged, that the banks in that state, 'have not the smallest design to refuse prompt pay to the holders of their notes:—they only mean to guard their vaults against the inroads of speculation!' This is a text, which may hereafter be found to speak volumes. We should be glad to know when and how the banks of North Carolina derived their right of judging, whether this or that holder of their notes is a speculator? Do their charters authorize them to refuse payment to such as they shall deem to be engaged in speculation? Or do their notes promise to pay the bearer—provided he is not a speculator? They 'have not the smallest design to refuse prompt pay to the holders of their notes,'—not they; but has the speculator, the hawking, bouncing speculator, any right to hold their notes?

It is amusing, indeed, to hear banks gravely talk of restraining speculation, for, if there be any one thing, to which our present distresses are to be attributed, it is the ruinous practice adopted by these institutions, of discounting the accommodation notes of men, who have no object but to speculate. Many of the persons who have failed in this country, may date their ruin from the time, when they first began to get money upon accommodation, instead of raising it from the resources of their own business. Procuring money so easily from the banks, they cease to encounter the trouble and vexation of raising it from small sums due to themselves: They are tempted to take all they can get, even to the pledge of their last acre of ground: they engage largely in business, which, from the accession of capital and capitalists, is soon rendered good for nothing: prices all sink, from the competition of sellers: the man is unable to procure even the first cost of his goods: his notes at the bank fall due: he has not the funds to pay them: away goes his property to the sheriff, and away goes he to the tavern.

But this is not the worst. The sober trader is involved in the same ruin with the speculator—and here we will give what we conceive to be the true history of the recent fall in the price of cotton. The speculator, with his money procured upon accommodation, goes into the market with the regular trader; over bids him; and, by a continuance of the competition, enhances the price so much, that the prudent merchant withdraws from the contest. This rise of price was so great upon cotton, that the regular dealers saw an advantage in bringing the article into our market instead of carrying it out. They, therefore, drew the specie from the banks with their money; carried it to India, and actually imported into this country immense cargoes of an article, of which we had already too much. The price fell to almost nothing; and a cry of distress resounded from the Atlantic to the Mississippi. Such are the blessings showered upon us by the banks! And such is the the mode in which these sober institutions have undertaken to put down speculation!

These sentiments come home with the lustre of conviction to the heart of every man; we are not led throughout all the painful and Dedalian subtelties of argumentation—they sparkle with the lustre of their own truth; there is a breathing honesty about them; they kindle and inspire the same sentiments in others.

The following decision by the highest judicial authority of this state, will necessarily cause an important change in the mode of proceeding by and against executors and administrators for the recovery of debts under fifty dollars. Hitherto, the practice has been, to proceed by warrant before a justice of the peace; the propriety, or rather the legality of this practice, had not been questioned; but now the court of appeals, having decided that a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction in any case where an executor or administrator is a party, all legal claims for and against the estates of persons deceased, must be sued for in the county court. *[Balt. LAW INTELLIGENCE.

Burrows, adm'r of Hale, appellant } Eastern
vs. } Shore
Howe, ex'trix of Howe, appellee. } Court of Appeals, June term 1819. Appeal from a judgment of Dorchester county court.

This was an action brought by the appellee in the court below, against the appellant, for the recovery of a debt of 30 dollars—in which judgment was rendered by the court, in favor of the appellee, on a case stated.

The error assigned was, that the county court had no jurisdiction in the case; that a justice of the peace had the exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine the matter.

The court of appeals affirmed the judgment of the county court. By this decision the law is now settled, that a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction in any case in which an executor or administrator is a party.

London, April 28.

SANGUINARY PUNISHMENT.

EXECUTION OF GEORGE WARDEN.

On Wednesday, at three o'clock in the afternoon, George Warden, convicted of abstracting money from letters while Clerk in the Post office of Aberdeen, underwent the awful sentence of the law, on a temporary gibbet, erected at the head of Liberteen's Wynd, nearly opposite to the Bank of Scotland. An immense multitude was collected to witness the execution. The behaviour of the unfortunate young man has been most pious and resigned since his condemnation, and he was so deeply affected by his melancholy fate, that great weakness of bodily strength was the consequence. About half past two the unhappy prisoner, attended by the magistrates and officers, ascended the platform, supported by the Rev. Dr. Bronton and Mr. Porteus, who had all along assisted him in his devotions. After singing the 5th hymn, Dr. Brunton delivered a most impressive prayer, during which the criminal seemed much affected. At its conclusion he prepared for his fate, and, with apparent firmness, took an affectionate leave of the ministers and magistrates.

The instant he ascended the drop, to which he was assisted by two men, a burst of sorrow rose from the crowd at seeing a genteel young man in such a melancholy situation. He appeared to feel with all its force the pity thus expressed, for his confidence forsook him, and it was with some difficulty that the two persons upheld him while the executioner was performing his necessary duties. On their descending to the platform, and leaving the unfortunate culprit alone, he was so week that it is probable he fainted, for he was quite unable to stand; and while in this awful situation, moving backwards and forwards, prevented solely from falling by the rope, he dropped the handkerchief 20 or 30 seconds before the executioner threw the fatal bolt. An instantaneous expression of horror burst from the multitude at this scene; fortunately nothing obstructed the drop, otherwise the consequences might have been most serious from the interest and sympathy which was so universally felt for the unhappy criminal. Why the two men did not remain with him until the executioner was perfectly ready to perform his office, we are at a loss to conceive; for it was perfectly ready to perform his office, we are at a loss to conceive; for it was quite apparent that the young man was unable to stand, and therefore, that he was not supported till all the preparations were completed, was very reprehensible.

The following was transmitted to a contemporary journal, as the dying declaration of the unhappy young man:—

Edinburgh April 13.

"In order that the truth may hereafter be investigated, and that injustice may be prevented to the young men, clerks, in the different Post-Offies, and that they may not be tempted by poverty, or the oppression of their superiors, to break their trust, and like me to expiate their guilt on a gallows, I deem that it may be of use that I leave behind me on record a declaration of the truth as to the actual amount of my allowance from the Post Office of Aberdeen, which was only 40*l.* I am by no means actuated, in this my last declaration, by any feeling of malice or revenge against the person of Mr. Dingwall; but I do so with with the hope of saving others from being in any way under the necessity of committing a similar crime, because had I been paid the salary allowed by Government, the temptation in my power would not have been availed of. At the same time I return my sincere thanks to the Clergymen and others, for their kindness in visiting me while under sentence; and, in justice, I cannot omit to mention the kind treatment I received from the Governor, Mr. Sibald, in making me as comfortable as my situation would admit of. I die in peace with all men, and in the humble hope of pardon from God, for my sins and offences against the public.

GEORGE WARDEN."

"Robert Smith, Balie.

"Alex. Brunton, Minister.

"P. S.—I have to contradict the printed poem that was sold through the city of Edinburgh, as it was never written by me. I also deny that I ever abstracted but 5*l.* from letters coming through the Post Office of Aberdeen.

GEORGE WARDEN.

RE-CAPTURE OF PORTO BELLO.

We have received Kingston Jam. papers to the 20th May.

The following account from the Jamaica Courant of the 18th May, is more particular than any heretofore published respecting the defeat of the notorious Mac-Gregor. Fed. Rep.

Total defeat of Sir Gregor M'Gregor's forces by the Royalists.

The above intelligence was received by his majesty's ship Sapphire, Captain Hart, which arrived at Port Royal in 12 days from Porto Bello. This event took place on the 1st inst. It appears that general Hore, with from 1000 to 1200 men, proceeded from Panama on the 21st ult. and reached Porto Bello after a most fatiguing march, on the evening of the 30th. Early on the morning of the 1st, it having rained incessantly during the whole night, the Spanish troops were led on in two divisions, one commanded by general Hore, a very brave officer, and the other by col. Santa Cruz, and they attacked and surprised the place at six o'clock, while M'Gregor and his troops were in their beds. He however escaped in his shirt, by leaping from a window in the government house 20 feet high, throwing his mattrass to light on, plunged off into the sea, and swam to a schooner in the harbor, whence he was safely conveyed to the brig Hero.—Col. O'Hara, with several other officers endeavored to rally the troops and make what resistance they could, but which was quite unavailing, as they were soon overpowered, one hundred men having been either killed or wounded in this unequal struggle. Colonel O'Hara was severely wounded and died in a few hours after.—Seventy officers and three hundred men were made prisoners by the royal forces, and all the baggage also fell into their hands. Two English women were killed in the engagement. The prisoners were ordered to Panama, where, we learn they are to be confined, until their future fate be decided by the government of Spain. Such artizens as may be among them are, however, it is said, to be compelled to work as soon as tools can be procured to enable them to exercise their respective trades. Governor Lopez, elevated to that situation by Gen. M'Gregor, was killed in his bed. Many of those who had escaped were afterwards found dead in the woods, and others were made prisoners, and brought back to the town.

Such has been the disastrous end of this longed talked of expedition, and which for a moment, obtained a small advantage, to be afterwards entirely destroyed—and that advantage it seems happened from the dastardly conduct of a cowardly governor, who abandoned the place without firing a shot. This man, however, who fled with his money and plate to Chagres on that occasion, was made prisoner immediately, and sent to Panama, under a strong escort of troops, where he would be tried by a court martial for his cowardice.

Notwithstanding the terrible fire of grape and musket shot which was kept up for a time from the troops who were rallied by col. O'Hara, the royalists sustained but a very small loss.

Letters from Puerto Bello represent Sir Gregor as a better leaper than general, for instead of taking refuge in a fort to defend himself and his brave followers on the first alarm, he immediately abandoned his people and fled on board the Hero, which immediately made her escape. She afterwards appeared off Chagres, and discharged some guns at the fort, but which was returned in a style that induced her speedily to decamp. It is conjectured she was to proceed to St. Andreas.

The Independent flag was still kept flying at Porto Bello as a decoy to vessels bound thither to join Sir Gregor.

General Hore was for proceed to Panama on the 6th inst. This officer distinguished himself in Spain, and is considered a very brave and enterprising officer.—Col. Santa Cruz was to be left in Porto Bello, as commandant of the place. Before these generals left Panama, they laid an embargo on all vessels in that port—and an interdiction to any communication with the town by land.

Gen. O'Sario and suit arrrived in the Saphire, and is to proceed hence to Spain with despatches, giving an account of the re-capture of Porto Bello.

Previously to the sailing of the Saphire from Porto Bello, reports reached that place from Panama, that Lord Cochrane had made an attack on Lima, and was beat off.

The Confiance brig of war, capt. Montgomery, was despatched from Porto Bello on the 4th, for this island, with accounts of the re-capture of that place.

After we had prepared the foregoing for press, we were favored with the following account of the re-capture of Porto Bello;

On the night of the 30th ult. the Spanish forces from Panama, commanded by general Hoare, marched to the neighborhood of Puerto Bello, and during the early part of the morning of the 1st inst. assembled in the immediate vicinity of the town, with an intent to commence an attack upon it at that time, in conjunction with a division under the command of Col. Santa Cruz, as preconcerted between them—the arrival of this division at the point of union, did not, however, take place so early as was expected, and general Hore was in consequence about to withdraw from before the town when the division appeared, and at six o'clock, the united forces marched into Puerto Bello without the least opposition; the Spanish forces took possession of all the different points at the same moment, and the Independent troops who were exercising in the square were immediately attacked, and the greater part obliged to surrender. Col. O'Hara was shot through the lungs in two places, in endeavoring to enter the fort and taken prisoner. He died on the second day in the hospital. General M'Gregor was in bed at the time of the attack, and to effect his escape, jumped fr. the window into the street, and ran to the water side, and swam off to the brig Hero. Gov. Lopez, who occupied a room next to M'Gregor, was killed in his room. Colonel Rafter, who, with a few followers, had retired to a fort next the beach, upon being attacked by the royalists, was obliged to surrender.

The loss od the part of the independents has been eighty killed and fifty wounded. The Spaniards lost only four men, which may be attributed to M'Gregor's being taken so completely by surprise, as there was not a single piquet posted outside the town. Seventy three officers were marched to Panama, and general Hore, having made arrangements for the disposition of his forces, and the security of his prisoners, returned to Panama by way of Chagres. The greatest attention has been paid by Col. Santa Cruz to the wounded and sick.

Return of the officers who were killed, wounded, made prisoners, escaped, and were missing on the 6th inst. belonging to M'Gregor's army.

Gen. Sir Gregor M'Gregor, escaped; Cols. O'Hara, wounded, since dead; Rafter, prisoner; Johnston, escaped; Maj. Baldwin and Brig. Maj. Ross, prisoners; Captains Acton, missing, supposed to be killed; Gutleuson, escaped: Gordon, wounded, prisoner; Dawson; Nelson, Palarios. O'Shaughaesseg, O'Callagan, Frost, Farnham, and Black, prisoners; Lieuts. Moore and Scargill, prisoners; Colecough, escaped; Finney and Nason prisoners; Dixon, missing: M'Bean, Smith, and Dudley, wounded and prisoners; and Mackay, missing; Ensigns Haddock, Banamy, and Plytheau, prisoners; Semfull, escaped; Stewart, killed, Coates and M'Donald, prisoners; Boothe and Ogahagan, killed; Howard, Shields, Baldwin, Soullard, and Howell, prisoners; Cadet Bret, wounded and prisoner. Surgeons Burton, Matherhead, and Bryan, prisoners; and M'Donald, escaped. Assistant Surgeons Kernan and Haslett, prisoners. Deputy Paymaster General Binstead, missing, supposed dead. Deputy Commissary General Walker, Assistant Commissary General Harwood, and deputy Assistant Commissary General Francoise, prisoners; commissary clerks Bruin and Roberts, prisoners, and Ryan, killed.

ANECDOTE.

A widow, who had been taught by the declarations of her deceased husband to believe that he would make a will much in her favor after his death found upon opening his testament that he had acted very different, and excluded her from the property she expected to possess. She made known her disappointment to her female servant who cheered her spirits by assuring her that the effect of the will might be avoided, and a new one easily framed—The mistress desired to know by what means. The maid answered that there was a poor fellow named Tom, the barber, in the neighborhood who much resembled her late master, and that for a small sum he would feign himself a dying man. If therefore an attorney was provided and proper witnesses, a will subsequent to the date of the true one, which, consequently would supercede it, might be made. Tom was sent for accordingly and agreed to play his part. The parties were summoned, the attorney attended, and the expiring husband dictated his last testament to be framed according to the wishes and interests of his imaginary wife for some time; but at length he proposed, that as he he had till then complied with her desires, he might leave one legacy according to his own wish, which was five hundred pounds to Tom the Barber! To prevent a discovery of the fraud, the lady was obliged to consent to the proposal, and faithfully pay the money to the proposer, in order to insure his secrecy.

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months: and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given, for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern. Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms. —All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,
Fairfax Court-House. Va.
